

Dear ,

You are receiving this email because you are supporting the Zonta International Centennial Anniversary Endowment Campaign. This campaign has been launched to secure our long-term commitment to improve women's lives by promoting education, health care, economic opportunity and safe living conditions. Thank you for being part of this exciting initiative.

There will be need for our efforts and money as long as women's rights are not considered and respected as human rights, as long as women do not have access to all resources on equal basis to men, and as long as women suffer from violence. The Centennial Anniversary Endowment Campaign is a step forward to ensure the sustainability and longevity of Zonta International's projects and programs.

We have recently launched a website that we want to share with you because of your commitment to this project.

Please visit us at zontaendowmentcampaign.org. We invite you to take a deeper look at the site. We are still in the quiet phase of this campaign, so we kindly ask that you please do not yet share this website.

Zonta International has given more than US$20 million to its programs and projects. In the 2014-2016 Biennium, we continue to make preventing and responding to violence against women and girls a primary focus, as we work to reduce early marriage and early pregnancy in Niger.

In cooperation with the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), Zonta began supporting the Niger project this biennium. This project is part of a five-year global initiative through which 25,000 girls will develop health, social and economic assets, know their rights and be in a stronger position to defend them, be safer and have a measure of protection against violence, have the basic tools required to lead fuller lives as adults, and be able to actively participate in the socioeconomic development of their communities. Approximately 400,000 members of their community will benefit from increased awareness of the dangers and losses associated with denying girls their rights. “ I decided to return to school because from attending the program, I became aware that it was better for my future rather than to stay put and do nothing. I would like to become a surgeon. ”

The Centennial Anniversary Endowment Campaign always welcomes your introductions to other individuals who support our goal of improving the lives of women worldwide. Once again, thank you for your support.

Yours sincerely,
